

CANDIDATES TALK AT THE WILSON RALLY GET RETURNS OF ELECTION

CANDIDATE FOR NATIONAL, STATE
AND COUNTY OFFICE ARE HEARD
BY PENSACOLA AUDIENCE AT THE COURT HOUSE.

Candidates for national, state and county office were given an opportunity to speak to the large audience gathered at the Wilson rally last night. The speaker was Capt. J. Ed. Williams, who spoke for the Wilson campaign. He was given a round of applause when he arose to address the audience and his words were well received by his hearers. He told of the difficulties which he had made the campaign, and of the several spells of sickness, but he said he felt that he could give a report to the people among whom he had lived almost all of his life of what his chances were.

He said he had been attacked by a general at the coming out picnic at West and he told L'Engle then that he did not consider it proper for him to refer to the shortcomings of a candidate who he had lived with for so long. He said at all, and he said the race reminded him of a clown in a ring with L'Engle in it.

He referred to his sixteen years in Washington at the head of his profession, and in view of this experience he thought he was better qualified to serve the short term of two years than any of the men in the race. In reference to the attacks being made upon him he said he had worked always to make three blades of grass grow where one grew before. Thirty years he said he has spent in active political work and in answer to the charge he would not carry Escambia county he said it would have to be a man from him to not support him if he came from Escambia county and told of some people having the "characteristics of a dog except gratitude."

At Key West when the campaign was on and when thirty-five congressmen were at a banquet, Captain O'Brien said when he entered they stood and gave three cheers for him "something," he said "they would not have done for L'Engle and his Dixie."

Eight counties of the State, Captain O'Brien said, cast half of the vote and in these eight counties he had devoted most of his time during the campaign, and he had gone in Duval county and in the home people the kind of man L'Engle is, and that in Jacksonville there are now many zealous workers for him, and of his chances he says he expects to get a majority in Duval, Leon, Alachua, DeSoto, Pope and Hillsborough, a plurality in Duval and a majority in Escambia counties.

MR. RAE TALKS.
Commissioner of Agriculture Mr. Rae made a talk of a few minutes in which he explained the importance of the office of commissioner of agriculture, of how the convicts are under the supervision of the commissioner of agriculture, as in the land department and pure food and drug laws. The commissioner serves on the board of pardons and the board of institutions.

Mr. Rae said the development of the state depends largely upon this office for development and that he will try to have enacted into law means to protect the immigrants from land schemes and to have better immigration laws passed by the next legislature.

He explained that Governor Gilchrist appointed him to office when he was not an applicant even when his opponent, Mr. Williams, was a candidate for governor.

Another candidate who made his final appeal to the voters last night was John T. Stokes, candidate for state attorney. Mr. Stokes, in substance, said he based his claim to the office which he is seeking upon his record in the past and asked for the support of the people because of his faithful service to them in his public and private life.

Mr. Stokes made a speech for his brother, Park M. Trammell, who is a candidate for governor, and Will H. Watson made a talk for W. H. Milton, who is also a candidate for governor.

Cary Ellis, candidate for sheriff, N. B. Cook, who wants to succeed himself as superintendent of public instruction; J. Kirk Monroe, who seeks to be re-elected county treasurer; Judge E. D. Beggs, and Alex Zellus, candidates for harbor-master; M. E. Morey, candidate for county commissioner, from District No. 4 and J. C. Nichols, candidate for re-election from the Second district, made short talks to the audience and all of them were listened to attentively.

Remember J. Ed. Williams for re-election as County Treasurer.

EVERYONE IS INVITED TO CALL AT
THE OFFICE AND LEARN THE RE-SULTS, WHICH WILL BE RE-CEIVED FROM ALL PRECINCTS
AND POINTS OVER THE STATE.

The Journal will receive returns of the election tonight, commencing as early as the count is started, and every person is invited to call at the office and get what information has been received. The returns will be received from every precinct in the county, as well as from points in the state, and The Journal will endeavor to give the public the same service which it has been supplying on election nights for many years.

Owing to the length of the ballots the count by the inspectors will necessarily be slow, and it will probably be late in the night before some of the precincts have concluded their count, while others may go into the next day.

Remember and don't forget
J. Ed. Williams at the polls, for re-election, County Treasurer.

MILTON RALLY AT MARIANNA

THE WEST FLORIDA CANDIDATE IS GIVEN A GREAT OVATION BY THE PEOPLE OF HIS HOME COUNTY.

Special to The Journal.
Marianna, April 29.—Today at 11 o'clock Judge Price adjourned court to allow the holding of a Milton rally meeting in the court house auditorium in honor of the well known Jacksonville county aspirant for governor, W. H. Milton. As a mark of courtesy to their fellow townsman practically every business house in the city closed their doors and gave their employees an opportunity to attend the rally.

At the appointed hour the building was well crowded, many in the rear of the room being forced to stand and among those present were a great many ladies. The speaker was introduced by Hon. Amos E. Lewis, secretary of the Jacksonville county Democratic executive committee, who in a few well chosen sentences stated the object of the meeting and introduced the speaker, Mr. Milton, who was greeted with enthusiastic applause as he arose.

After thanking the court for the courtesy shown him, Mr. Milton made a long and interesting speech, in which he made a series of references to reports on the possibilities of cane production from reports of such eminent authorities as Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, the pure food expert; Claude S. Prentiss, the sugar king; Dr. R. E. Rose, state chemist, and numerous others, showed the feasibility of his proposed Everglades sugar farm as a solution of the complex question of convict labor from a humanitarian standpoint, and securing Good Roads Throughout the Entire State Without Resorting to Exhorbitant Taxation. His arguments in favor of his plan were made from the standpoint of a solid, successful business man, who at the same time has a feeling for the unfortunate who have been placed in convict garb. He showed conclusively that while they would have punishment meted out to them by the state through being deprived of their liberty and the fruits of their labors, they would also have surroundings with much greater tendency for reformation than could be secured by any other way.

Another important thing advocated by Mr. Milton is the improving of the efficiency of the public schools of the state, wherein the greater portion of the children of Florida get their education. While upholding the colleges and high schools the speaker declared that nearly 8 per cent of children of school age are enrolled in the rural schools, and that a greater scope of learning should be given these latter.

He touched upon the Everglades drainage and spoke of having recommended this undertaking while he was surveyor-general. He also advocated the railroad employees liability law, placing those who follow this hazardous occupation in the state through being deprived of their liberty and the fruits of their labors, they would also have surroundings with much greater tendency for reformation than could be secured by any other way.

In conclusion Mr. Milton cited the fact that he had always espoused the cause of the people against the "interests" and for years had always been in the fight for men for office whom he had reason to believe would work for the people, and it was on these grounds that he was making the race for governor.

At the close of his speech, which lasted an hour and fifteen minutes, he was again heartily cheered.

Puts End to Bad Habit.
Things never look bright to one with "the blues." Ten to one the trouble is a sluggish liver, filling the system with bilious poison. That Dr. King's New Life Pills would expel. Try them. Let the joy of better feelings and "the blues." Best for stomach, liver and kidneys. 25 cents. W. A. D'Alemberte.

"I hate to see anyone change his mind or sacrifice his first ideals," said the uncompromising person. "And yet," replied Senator Sorghum, "if one of us had changed our minds or sacrificed our first ideals most of us would be circus clowns."—Washington Herald.

Remember J. Ed. Williams for re-election as County Treasurer.
